Subject:	Naming of the ASN Residential & Respite Houses: UPDATE
Purpose:	The purpose of this report is for IJB to approve two suggestions for the naming of the new Respite & Residential Houses that are currently under construction in Stevenston.
Recommendation:	IJB are asked approve two names as the final names for the Residential and Respite Houses.

Glossary of Terms:
NHS AA	NHS Ayrshire and Arran
HSCP	Health and Social Care Partnership
R&R	Residential & Respite Houses

1.	EXECUTIVE SUMMARY
1.1	Construction works on the new Additional Support Needs Respite & Residential Houses in Stevenston started in July 2019. Despite a delay to the build as a result of the unexploded ordinance and COVID-19 pandemic, works have now progressed to the point where a name is required for both houses. This is to allow for various activities to take place including signage, advertising, communication and to give both buildings an identity and be used in the familiarisation and transitional plans for any potential service users.
2.	BACKGROUND
2.1	North Ayrshire Council Education Department commissioned the building of a new Additional Special Needs (ASN) School which will replace the outdated existing four additional support needs schools on a single site in Stevenson. Planning permission has been sought and granted for the Health and Social Care Partnership to create a new purpose-built 8 bedded Residential Respite facility and an 8 bedded Residential accommodation for children and young people with severe and complex needs. This presents a very necessary, exciting and unique opportunity for North Ayrshire to Get it Right for Every Child.

2.2	In June 2019 IJB approved a proposal for the residential accommodation to be provided in-house by North Ayrshire Council Health & Social Care Partnership with the respite care being delivered in our new building by our existing provider - The Mungo Foundation.

3.	Naming Process to Date:
3.1	The naming process has consisted of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Consultation with children and young people • Consultation with families, carers and staff • Consultation with The Mungo Foundation • Consultation with the Workforce Workstream • Consultation with the Non-Construction Workstream • Consultation with the R&R Steering Group members • Consultation with the Three Towns LPP Forum • Consultation with NAC Legal Services Throughout the process we have tried to stay close to themes relevant to the local area. Any historical events that have taken place, as well as any historical and/or prominent people linked to the area, have also been considered. The two proposed names presented to IJB in February 2020 were: (1)Red Rose House Red Rose comes from the Robert Burns poem “A Red, Red Rose”. It was felt by the group that using the name ‘Red Rose’ would provide both a tribute to Robert Burns links to the town, and could also be used as a visual symbol of hope and love for our service users. (2)Roslin House Roslin House comes from the “Lady Roslin” ship that was built in Ardrossan Harbour. The ship was used by Nobel Industries who were based in Ardeer, employing thousands of people throughout the Three Towns. The group felt that this name linked to both Ardrossan and the Three Towns and that the name “Roslin House” would pay homage to the local history. In addition, it was felt that the symbol of a ship could represent adventure and new beginnings. Further Names At IJB in February, some reservations were expressed about the two proposed names and as a result, in August 2020, we took the decision to consider seven additional names which have been proposed by local historical societies and local residents in the Three Towns area. The names and a short explanation of their origins are listed below: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Warner House: Warner was a distinguished historical landowner. 2. Caponcraig House: The House is built on the geographical fault which has been reputed to have been the cause of the mining disaster and flooding of the entire Auchendarvie golf area from the club building and the former St. John’s school area, to the pump station. A small historical obelisk was erected outside the clubhouse in memory of the local miners who died.

	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Lansborough House: David Lansborough is a former minister from Stevenston (1800s) and scholar. 4. Seabank House: This is the former name of Auchenharvie Estate. 5. Sir Tom Moore House: Former British Army Officer and Centenarian who raised considerable sums of money for the NHS during this pandemic. 6. Angela Dunbar House/Dunbar House: Angela Dunbar has contributed a great deal to the local area over many years. Angela was previously on the NHS Board for a significant period of time, is former Depute Lord Lieutenant of Ayrshire and a former local elected member in the Saltcoats area. 7. Robert Burns House: Named after the bard himself. The seven names detailed above, in addition to the two initial names proposed to IJB in February, were communicated for consideration to Elected Members in the Three Towns locality and to the steering group in August 2020. The two most popular names as a result of the further consultation are: (1) Red Rose House; and (2) Roslin House
3.2	Anticipated Outcomes
	It is anticipated the new R&R facilities will provide a greater quality of life and quality of experiences for our children and young people by providing the best possible care, with state of the art facilities, available within the financial envelope. By finalising the names of the Houses, work can continue to progress within the anticipated timescales and not delay construction works on the site.
3.3	Measuring Impact
	It is expected that the existing measurement tools will be used to determine the impact on the service users and to also measure the expenditure of each of the houses
4.	IMPLICATIONS
Human Resources:	As this is a new service there are no workforce implications for current NAHSCP staff.
Legal:	There are no predicted Legal impacts related to the naming of the R&R Houses.
Equality:	It is expected that the R&R Houses will provide an efficient, cost-effective service, taking into consideration the health and well-being of individual service-users thus ensuring equity of provision.
Children and Young People	It is expected that the R&R Houses will greatly improve the lives and experiences of the children & young people who will use the services within both Houses. The buildings will have modern furnishings and state of the art technology and facilities.

Environmental & Sustainability:	Both Houses are being constructed taking full account of sustainability and environmental issues. They have been built with an EPC rating of B+ before renewables and a biomass boiler, in addition to solar panels being incorporated within the overall design of the Campus.
Key Priorities:	It is anticipated that the new R&R facilities will provide a greater quality of life and experiences for our children and young people by providing the best possible care available within the financial envelope.
Risk Implications:	It is predicted that the naming of the R&R Houses will not provide any risks to the project.
